He quotes Guru Nanak saying that the teachings of Nam are meant for all the four castes, meaning that they apply to all humanity. This is because all humanity faces the same challenge cÄÄÄÄ how to meet death when it comes for us, how to live with total faith in God. And that is probably why this story has been told and retold in many cultures and contexts, by many saints and teachers. It proves the principle that the saints©ÄÄÄ teachings are meant for everyone. In this time of the Covid-19 pandemic, it is natural that people©ÄÄÄs minds turn to destiny and death. It is good to remember that although we may try to protect ourselves, ultimately death may come when we least expect it and we cannot avoid our destiny. As the talmudic saying makes clear: cÄÄÄÄÄ man's feet are responsible for him; they lead him to the place where he is wanted.cÄÄÄÄ Here is the story. Appointment in Samarra There was a merchant in Baghdad who sent his servant to market to buy provisions, and in a little while the servant came back, white and trembling, and said, cÄÄÄÄMaster, just now when I was in the marketplace I was jostled by a woman in the crowd, and when I turned I saw it was Death that had jostled me. She looked at me and made a threatening gesture. Now, lend me your horse, and I will ride away from this city and avoid my fate. I will go to Samarra and there Death will not find me.cÄÄÄÄ The merchant lent him his horse, and the servant mounted it, and he dug his spurs in its flanks and as fast as the horse could gallop, he went. Then the merchant went down to the marketplace and he saw Death disguised as a woman standing in the crowd, and he came to her and ä € œPerchä © you made a threatening gesture to my servant when you saw the morning? ä € ä € œI was not a threatening gestureä € , said the woman. ä € œIn only one expression of surprise. I was amazed to see him in Baghdad, because I had an appointment with him tonight in Samarra. # So what does it mean for us in a day by day? Should we surrender and wait for our karma to take place? For death to meet us on the market? Sometimes we have to force ourselves to remember what life and death is, how we forget so easily. We must realize that our karma and their results are unfolding in front of us all the time and that we must prepare ourselves by participating in our meditation and always keeping Simran in mind. We must be ready. Hazur Maharaj Ji presents an example of the need to constantly focus on a letter that he wrote to a friend, reproduced in Treasure Beyond Measure: you will be sorry to know that in Ludhiana I met a serious accident, but for the grace of Maharaj Ji, Damodar ( the driver) and I both ran away. At the Ludhiana railway crossing, when we were waiting for the railway gate to open, suddenly, when opening the gate, a trolley full of iron bars about six round inch and thirty -five feet in length pierced the front windshield, just passing through Damodar, and reaching where I was sitting on the rear seat. When the bars were one meter from my head, the cart stopped. There were three or four thousand people there and everyone was surprised as we had fled from death. By Maharaj the grace of Ji, I was so calm and cool that I also laughed when everything was over. The iron bars went to six foot inside the car and were scattered about three meters away . . . . . At the time of the accident, I was a matter of habit. Hazur Maharaj by Ji emphasizes the importance of constant awareness for all of us. So we do double-down on our efforts – which will help us maintain our faith and andTo summarize, the great teacher warned that by adhering to the process, practice, a certain spiritual force "awakens our love and our faith: the force of willingness becomes strong for repetition and concentration and the spiritual strength is created, which wakes up Love and faith inside, and it leads to personal magnetism that is present in small or largely in every human being and even in animals. This spiritual force is within each of us but is awakened only by spiritual practice. Only those whose internal eye is open can feel it.3 So, yes, we must accept and adapt to the reality that death could be around the corner. But in the meantime, we can live in the atmosphere of meditation being assiduous In our practice, presenting himself regularly and punctually, and "simply sitting", as Hazur Maharaj Ji said, if the mind obeys or not. And we can always be grateful. After all, his advice is a our advantage. The master often reminds us that a shopkeeper has to open his shop and spend the whole day waiting for customers, even if nobody comes. But if he does not wait, he does not be present when a good customer comes, ready to buy. Idries Shah, Tales of the Dervishes (London: Octagon Press, 1993), p. 191 Epigraph by W. Somerset Maugham a John Oä € ävelop "c Hara of 1934 Book of the homonymous name Spiritual Gems, letter 202" The appointment in Samarra "(as told by W. Somerset Maugham [1933]) the speaker It is the death of the death there was a trader in Bagdad who sent his servant on the market to buy supplies and in a while the servant returned, white and trembling, and said, Maestro, right now when I was on the market I was driven by a woman between the crowd and when I turned I saw that it was the death that pushed me. She looked at me and made a threatening gesture, now, lend me your horse, and go to from this city and I will avoid my destiny. I will go to Samarra and there death will not find me. The trader lent ithorse, and the servant mounted him, and dug his spurs in his hips and the fastest as the horse could gallop he went. Then the merchant went down to the market and saw me standing in the crowd and came to me and said, "Why did you hit my servant when you saw him this morning? It wasn't a threatening gesture, I said, it was just a surprise start. I was amazed to see him in Baghdad because I had a date with him tonight in Samarra. There is a brief study guide for this narrative. But you should not take it until you have reread this little story a couple of times. What are some of the details that, on reflection, help to make this exact way of telling the intriguing story?
